Announcement Concerning the Controlling Shareholder

Hino Motors, Ltd. (hereinafter “Hino”) hereby announces the information regarding the controlling shareholder, Toyota Motor Corporation which is the parent company of Hino, as follows;

a) Name, etc. of the Parent Company

(As of March 31, 2023)

Name	Relationship	Holding Ratio of Voting Rights (%)			Stock exchanges on which shares of the Parent Company are listed
		Direct holding	Indirect holding	Total holding
Toyota Motor Corporation	Parent company	50.2	—	50.2	Tokyo Stock Exchange, Inc. Prime Market Nagoya Stock Exchange, Inc Premier Market New York Stock Exchange (United States) London Stock Exchange (United Kingdom)

b) Position of Hino in the corporate group of the Parent Company and the relationships between Hino and the Parent Company

(1) The position of Hino in the corporate group of the Parent Company and the transactional, personnel, and capital relationships between Hino and the Parent Company

Toyota Motor Corporation is the parent company of Hino holding 50.2% of the voting rights of Hino. Hino has been entrusted by the Parent Company with manufacturing of LAND CRUISER PRADO for the Parent Company, and develops and manufacturers light-duty trucks as a manufacturer of commercial vehicles in the Toyota Group. In addition, overseas manufacturing subsidiaries of Hino supply parts of Toyota vehicles as the unit suppliers and undertake contract manufacturing of light-duty truck to manufacturing subsidiaries of the Parent Company. The percentage of sales to the corporate group of the Parent Company constitutes 21% of Hino’s total sales. Hino receives financing from the Parent Company as follows:

Loans from the Parent Company: 192.3 billion yen (111.1 billion yen as of the end of the previous fiscal year).

(2) Risks and merits of being a member of the corporate group of the Parent Company

Toyota Motor Corporation holds 50.2% of the voting rights of Hino. Hino engages in close communications with the Parent Company and the relationships with the Parent Company do not impose undue restrictions upon the decision-making of Hino, while there are matters in the course of business of Hino which require approval of the Parent Company.

(3) Hino's stance on and measures for securing certain degree of independence from the Parent Company

Hino is the manufacturer of commercial vehicles of the Toyota Group, and there is a firm position allotted to Hino within the corporate group of the Parent Company. While Hino raises financing from the Parent Company, Hino does not believe that such financing affects its independence in its business activities.

(4) Hino's status in securing certain independence from the Parent Company (and its reason)

Hino owns its own brand business (HINO brand) and sales from the HINO brand business constitutes 79% of the total sales of Hino. Through its HINO brand business, Hino engages in its own unique product-planning, research and development, procurement, manufacturing, and sales activities, and thus Hino believes that it has secured and maintained independence from the corporate group of the Parent Company.

c) Matters relating to transactions with the Parent Company

(From April 1, 2022 to March 31, 2023)

					Borrowing of long term loans	16,568	Current portion of long term debt	3,516
							Long term debt	13,887

(Note) "Accounts of Transaction" does not include consumption tax, etc. while "Balance as of fiscal year end" includes consumption tax, etc.

d) Status of the implementation of measures to protect minority shareholders when undertaking transactions, etc. with the controlling shareholder

Hino owns its own brand business as mentioned above, and there is a firm position allotted to Hino within the corporate group of the Parent Company. Thus, Hino believes that it has secured and maintained independence from the corporate group of the Parent Company.

Furthermore, with respect to the sale, etc. of the products to the Parent Company, the wholesale prices of the products are determined through price negotiation term by term in consideration of the market price of raw materials and the volume of vehicle production. With respect to purchase of parts, etc., through negotiation with the Parent Company, the rational price is determined in consideration of the wholesale price of the products, as same as general terms and conditions of business. With respect to the interest rate of the financing from the Parent Company, the rates are determined in consideration of the market interest rate, same as ordinary transactions.

Regarding these important transactions between Hino and the Parent Company's group, Hino will judge the appropriateness of the transactions at a meeting of the board of directors after obtaining consults with and receiving advice from a special committee composed of only independent outside directors.

As set forth above, Hino does not believe that the business with the Parent Company infringes on the right of the minority shareholders.
